HAS NO FEAR OF WAR WITH UNCLE SAM

MORET THINKS DELAY OBVIATES CHANCE OF STRIFE.

Ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs for Spain Takes an Optimistic View of the Spanish-American Difficulties—Other Foreign News Sent Over The Cable.

Madrid, Spain, May 13.—Senor Moret, formerly liberal minister of foreign affairs, said today:

"I don't believe now that the Competitor case is likely to lead to an unpleasant tension in the relations of the United States, as months must elapse before a new trial can be had. The American government raised its objections under the treaty of 1795, made when we still possessed Florida, and which ought to have been formally abrogated, since it hardly applies to our insular position in Cuba. America invokes the protocol of 1877 also, which our parliament never ratified, so that I ignored its existence, though I held office several times as minister of state This protocol is an absolute contradiction with our civil and military codes I doubt if our tribunals in the peninsula could recoznize it. The incident might have been avoided in several ways—first, by hanging the pirates at the yard-arm, as all other nations have done. This could be done by international law if the execution were done on the spot by summary court-martial on deck, the pirate being caught in flagrante delictu. Secondly, by sending the case to an ordinary court-martial with the assistance of counsel and the right of appeal to the Spanish supreme courts, in which case the American government itself signified officially that it would not object to the application of the laws of Spain to foreign citizens.

"Such incidents are regrettable chiefly because they give Americans a pretext to interfere, and our anti-monarchical opposition to create agitation.

"I believe President Cleveland has quite justified the confidence we have shown in his serious character, sense of justice, and friendly disposition. He has to act cautiously and warily in order not to awaken American popular feeling.

"I consider the declarations made in the royal speech yesterday important, as I must believe Canovas sincere, and that he means to carry out some day the reform policy he announces when he asks parliament for full powers, and says the reforms voted in 1895 are no longer sufficient to please the colonial parties or to meet the new requirements of the situation. I consider the royal speech chiefly calculated to produce a good effect abroad and in America and Cuba, and that Canovas must intend to grant local councils to both islands with legislative autonomy, otherwise his promises of administrative and economic autonomy would be meaningless."

The ministerial press has so clearly expressed this novel aspect of the affair and has so plainly insisted upon the friendly way in which the American government insisted on the execution of the treaties, without challenging the right of Spain to chastise foreign offenders by her ordinary courts of justice, that the excitement has subsided despite the efforts of the jingo press.

LEFT JAMESON IN THE LURCH.

Cecil Rhodes Couldn't Agree with the Reformers About the Flag.

London, May 13.—The Daily Courier Tuesday confirms the report that Dr. Jameson's raid into the Transvaal failed because Cecil Rhodes wished the reformers to revolt under the union jack, while the latter insisted upon the Transvaal flag.

It also appears to be confirmed that all arrangements were made to proclaim Charles Leonard president and John Hays Hammond state's attorney, but they refused to alter their plans, and consequently left Dr. Jameson in the lurch.

The Rev. Frank Gates and Wife of Chicago Coming to America.

Not a British Citizen.

London, May 13.—The under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, Mr. George N. Curzon, in the house of commons, answering a question regarding the nationality of the men captured on board the American filibustering schooner Competitor, said that among the prisoners was a man named William Hilby (probably the man referred to in the Havana dispatches as Gildea), who was born under the British flag but who had, according to dispatches received from the British consul at Havana, lost his British nationality by becoming a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Danville, Ill., May 13.—The eighteenth state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians met in this city Tuesday. Acting Mayor Heinly delivered an address of welcome.

HE FLIES LIKE A BIRD.

Professor Langley Perfects a Steam Flying Machine.

Washington, D. C., May 13.--The first public statement regarding the flying machine experiments conducted by Professor Samuel P. Langley, the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, for some months past were made Tuesday with the authority of Professor Langley.

Professor Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor, reports on Professor Langley's machine as follows:

"On last Wednesday, May 6, I witnessed a very remarkable experiment with Professor Langley's aerodrome on the Potomac river.

"The aerodrome, or 'flying machine,' in question was of steel, driven by a steam engine. It resembled an enormous bird, soaring in the air with extreme regularity in large curves, sweeping steadily upward in a spiral path, the spirals with a diameter of perhaps 100 yards, until it reached a height of about 100 feet in the air at the end of a course of about half a mile, when the steam gave out, the propellers which had moved it stopped, and then, to my further surprise, the whole, instead of tumbling down, settled as slowly and gracefully as it is possible for any bird to do, touched the water without any damage, and was picked out immediately and ready to be tried again.

"A second trial was like the first, except that the machine went in a different direction, moving in one continuous gentle ascent as it swung around in circles like a great soaring bird."

Prof. Langley says:

"The aerodrome, or flying machine, has no gas to lift it as in the case of a balloon, but on the contrary is about 1,000 times heavier, bulk for bulk, than the air on which it is made to run and which sustains it somewhat in the way in which thin ice supports a swift skater.

"The power is derived from a steam engine through the means of propellers, but owing to the scale on which the actual aerodrome is built, there has been no condensing apparatus to use the water over and over.

"Enough can be carried for only a very brief flight, a difficulty which does not belong to larger machines than the present examples in which the supporting surfaces are but about fourteen feet from tip to tip.

"The distance flown each time was about one-half mile. The rate of speed depends (as is the case of any vehicle on land) on whether it is going on a level or up hill."

FRYE YIELDS A POINT.

Santa Monica Harbor Question to Be Decided by a Special Commission.

Washington, May 13.—The animated contest which has proceeded for the last four days in the senate over a deep-water harbor on the southern coast of California was brought to a close Tuesday by a compromise between the conflicting interests. The issue has been between the points of Santa Monica, the terminus of the Southern Pacific, and San Pedro, the locality urged by the California senators. Senator Frye, chairman of the commerce committee, finally harmonized the differences by referring the question as between Santa Monica and San Pedro to a commission to consist of three civil engineers, a naval officer and an officer of the coast survey. The compromise was accepted by the California senators and was unanimously passed.

When incidental reference was made during the discussion to the fact that the people of Los Angeles did not want the harbor at Santa Monica, Mr. Frye said he did not care what the people of Los Angeles wanted. They did not know what they wanted.

Thinks It Minnie Williams' Skull.

De Witt, Ia., May 13.—The skull of Minnie Williams, one of the victims of the murderer Holmes, is believed to be in the possession of Dr. M. R. Waggoner, Jr., of this place. At the time of the investigation of Holmes' crimes by the Chicago police it was said the skeleton of Minnie Williams was traced by them to Hahnemann Medical College Hospital, to which or some person connected therewith it had been sold by Holmes at the close of the spring term at the college.

Arcola, Ill., May 13.—An anti-negro, or black-cap club, is said to have been formed here. Its object is to put a stop to the colored people becoming residents of the city or permitting stragglers from remaining any length of time within the limits. Arcola is now without a colored inhabitant.

Abbey and Wife Separate.

New York, May 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Abbey have separated. For nearly three weeks she has occupied the flat in the handsome Grenade building, 160 West Fifty-ninth street, with her stepdaughter, Miss Kittie White. Mr. Abbey has had quarters at the Gilsey house. The intimate friends of the Abbeys say that the separation will not be permanent, and is due purely to a little domestic friction which will in time be healed.

FILLEY-KERENS ROW DOWN IN MISSOURI

FIGHT AT THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Factions Come to Blows Over Possession of the St. Joseph Theatre, In Which The Meeting Is to Be Held—Other Political News.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 13.—Extreme turbulence characterized the opening of the Missouri State Republican convention Tuesday morning. For an hour or more a riot was imminent. During the crush in front of the theater when the opening hour had arrived men were knocked down and the police were forced to handle obstreperous individuals in a rather forcible manner. As the hours passed the multitude became desperate and additions were made to the police detail. Gradually, as the crowd increased in size, curses reeked the air, and the scene was one of the wildest confusion.

After a delay of three hours Chairman Filley appeared on the stage and called the convention to order. After the reading of the call prayer was offered and Mayor Vories welcomed the delegates to the city. The building was packed to the door, but the delegates seemed to have forgotten their wrath and aside from a few bruised heads and black eyes, where delegates had been struck with policemen's clubs in the row, there were no evidences of what had for a time threatened to end in a fierce riot.

When the committee on platform made its report the following resolutions were presented and adopted with a hurrah:

"We demand a return to the sound republican policy of protection and reciprocity. Under the doctrine of reciprocity as advocated by Blaine and enforced by Harrison's administration our export trade was vastly increased and new and enlarged markets were opened to our farm products. The repeal of the law by the democratic congress has closed the markets of many foreign countries to a large portion of American products.

"We are firm and emphatic in our demand for honest money. We believe that our money should not be inferior to the money of the most enlightened nations of the earth. We are unalterably opposed to any scheme that threatens to debase or depreciate our currency. We favor the use of silver as currency, but to the extent only and under such regulations that its parity with the present gold standard can be maintained, and in consequence we are opposed to the free, unlimited, and independent coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

"We recognize the Hon. William McKinley as the champion of the doctrine of protection, a gallant soldier, an able statesman and a true and loyal American, and the delegates elected by this convention are directed to cast their votes for the nomination of William McKinley for president of the United States."

Filley was elected chairman of the state committee and delegate to the national convention at St. Louis.

Split in Delaware's Convention.

Dover, Del., May 13.—In the Delaware state republican convention Tuesday Senator Higgins and his friends were out-voted at every point, and failing, after a prolonged contest, to secure the passage of a resolution indorsing McKinley for president, withdrew from the convention. The vote on the resolution at roll-call was 96 against and 54 in favor. The resolutions call for sound money, international bimetallism and protection for manufacturers and for American shipping.

New York Club Indorses Ohio.

New York, May 13.—Tuesday night the Fourteenth Assembly District Republican club gathered at the headquarters of the John A. Logan club and declared for McKinley. "We are all solid for McKinley," said William F. Daly. "The republicans of the Fourteenth district have a good opinion of Governor Morton, but he is not their choice for president. They do not think he has a ghost of a chance of being nominated."

Kansas District for McKinley.

Hotel Guests Given a Scare.

Elwood, Ind., May 13.—At 3 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the cooking department of the Hotel Stevenson, and soon the entire building was filled with smoke. The frightened guests made a wild dash for the stairways, men, women and children fleeing in their night robes. The kitchen was gutted before the fire could be extinguished, but no fatalities occurred. The loss will not reach over $500, and is covered by insurance. The excellent work of the fire department saved the adjacent block.

Rio Janeiro, May 13.—The students of the Polytechnic raised a serious disturbance Monday. They maltreated the professors shouting "Death to the director," "Down with the monarchy," "Long live the republic."

A CYCLONE SWEPT OVER THE TOWNS

RUIN IS WROUGHT AT LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

Many Persons Are Injured, But None, It Is Thought, Fatally—Wild Scenes of Terror Throughout the City—Minor Storms at Various Points.

Lincoln, Neb., May 13.—A terrible cyclone pounced upon this city Tuesday evening, and, after the disturbance, it was found that scarcely a building in the capital city of this state had come out of the struggle undamaged. While the ruin, in some instances, was complete, it varied in others from the loss of roofs to the demolition of chimneys. No loss of life has yet been reported, but the number of persons injured is large. The "twister" scooped down upon the city at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon and in a short time the work of destruction had been done. Among the larger buildings that suffered were the Hotel Ideal and the structures of the State University. The buildings at Lincoln Park, where races were about to be held, presented a sad scene of desolation, and much money will be necessary to restore them. A. S. Woodward was crushed under a falling church, and had a leg broken. It is not thought the crop damage will be great. The severely injured are:

J. L. Workman, head cut by flying debris; A. L. Woodry, in a collapsing building; Mrs. J. B. Abbott, caught beneath a horse; Henry Meyer, J. T. Thorpe.

The storm raged with unabated violence twenty-five minutes. During this period rain fell as from a cloudburst, accompanied by hail. The prevailing drift of the wind was from the southwest, but at times it seemed to form in edies between the business blocks and was accompanied by cyclonic features. buildings were unroofed and torn down, cornices were swept from roofs into the streets, and the residence portion of the city was nearly denuded of trees. The greatest damage wasat the State Hospital for the Insane, where many of the larger buildings were unroofed. The damage will be heavy. In the city it probably will reach $40,000 and may be much heavier, as the suburban districts are yet cut off from communication. At the state asylum iron supports weighing 300 pounds were blown several hundred feet. There is scarcely a street in the town that is not strewn with large branches and whole trunks of trees unrooted by the storm. The damage to the Kelly block will be about $2,000. The Bohemian Catholic church, a brick structure at the corner of Second and E streets, was destroyed. The loss is $4,500.

TERRIFIC TWISTER AT ELKHORN.

Descends to the Earth Twice and Leaves Its Mark of Ruin.

Elkhorn, Neb., May 13.—A cyclone swept this region Tuesday. A funnel-shaped cloud shot down from the storm center and a general stampede of citizens for cellars and caves ensued. At the school house the children fled panic-striken to the furnace room, and several of them were hurt. The cyclone struck the ground north of the town. Its course was northwest. The path of the storm was from 200 to 300 yards wide, and everything in this path was razed to the ground, including several houses. Large trees along the highway adjacent were torn and twisted out of the ground. Carl Johnson, a farmer, was caught in the "twister." He had a team attached to a wagon. He endeavored to skirt the storm by driving in a meadow to the westward, but before he could lash his horses out of the path of the rapidly approaching hurricane he was caught, and man, horses and wagon were sent through space, together with fences, boards, posts, wire and other debris. Johnson's clothes were torn from his back, and he received several injuries. At times the wind would raise him high in the air and drop him back to the earth, only to catch him up again, and finally, when the storm passed over him, he was 150 yards or more from where the storm first struck him. The wagon was completely demolished.

Three Persons Injured.

Sterling, Kas., May 13.—A cyclone passed five miles north of here in the vicinity of Cow Creek Tuesday evening, coming from the southwest, and demolished almost everything in its path. The houses of Logan Zerbe, Levi Wagner, Robert Deemez, and others were badly wrecked. Three persons are reported slightly injured. It is believed no one was killed. Much stock perished.

Burglars at Elwood.

Elwood, Ind., May 13.—Burglars entered the installment store of W. C. Baker & Co. by means of a rear window and ransacked the establishment, carrying off at least $100 worth of goods. The store is situated on a main thoroughfare and the thieves appear to have spent the night in the store, but escaped without leaving any clew to their identity.

VETS PARADE AT CAIRO.

Opening Ceremonies of the State Encampment.

Cairo, Ill., May 13.—The opening exercises of the Grand Army encampment began Tuesday when the grand procession started from the opera house in Commercial avenue, passing through a great triumphal arch. Fewer that 500 veterans were in line. The thermometer was nearly 100 degrees in the shade. The avenue was decorated with patriotic colors and portraits of Lincoln, Grant and Logan, and 20,000 persons, many of them ex-confederates from Missouri and Kentucky, lined the sides of the street and cheered the veterans.

Capt. J. H. Robinson was grand marshal and had for his aids Prof. C. Clendenen, Capt. T. C. Watkins and Col. Louis Krughoff. Then came the Egyptian band of Cobden and Stephenson Post, of Springfield, the largest in the encampment. There were three companies of militia in the parade, two from Belleville and Carbondale, commanded by Capts. Rogers and Williams; and one from Wycliffe, Ky., commanded by Capt. Rothrock. The battalion was led by Maj. S. A. D. McWilliams, of the Illinois National Guard, who also had a company of high school cadets of one week's training in line.

The distinguished guests in the carriages included Commodore Walker, of Indianapolis, Department Commander Powell, of Belleville, and Gen. John A. McClernand, of Springfield. After the parade the Illinois Central Railroad Company furnished the veterans a train of twelve coaches and carried them over into Kentucky to look at the spot where Fort Holt once stood. It is being plowed for corn.

Stocking Mourns His Cash.

St. Louis, Mo., May 13.—Ed Hogaboom, the Hot Springs banker and financier, has disappeared, leaving behind a multitude of creditors to wonder at their faith in the man. The biggest wonderer in the bunch is John B. Stocking of Eau Claire, Wis. He was in St. Louis Tuesday en route to Chicago. The last time he was here was on April 29, and that was the day, it is alleged, Mr. Hogaboom gave him the slip, carrying with him to lands unknown $10,000 of Mr. Stocking's hard earned money. Last September the two friends were in Chicago together and Mr. Hogaboom told his companion of a scheme he had to make money quickly. If Mr. Stocking would let Mr. Hogaboom have $10,000 until April 10, 1896, Mr. Hogaboom would make him a bonus of $3,333.33.

London, May 13.—In the house of commons Tuesday Dr. G. B. Clark, liberal member for Caithnesshire, asked the home secretary, Sir Matthew White Ridley, if the lard chief justice, Baron Russell of Kilowen, had intimated to him that Mrs. Florence Maybrick ought to be released, and, if so, whether he would appoint a commission of inquiry. The home secretary replied that he had received such an intimation from the lord chief justice, but, after careful consideration of the matter, he was convinced that the right course had been adopted, and, therefore, he would not appoint a commission of inquiry.

Other claims for considerable amounts are outstanding. The sheriff took possession of the company's property to secure the claims of the two banks.

Rival Mayors at Peru, Ind.

Peru, Ind., May 14.—The city council has five democrats and three republicans, but at the election last week the republicans gained three more and now have a three-fourths majority. The members qualified Friday. Saturday Mayor Jesse S. Zern died and that evening the old council, or the five democratic members of it, met and appointed Orson Durand, a democrat, as mayor. The six republicans of the new council claim the appointment is not legal, and at the first meeting of the new board they elected Charles A. Parsons, a republican, as mayor. Mr. Durand claims his seat and the affair will very likely have to be taken to the courts to decide.

In Scott Jackson's Defense.

Newport, Ky., May 13.—There is a diminution in attendance at the Jackson trial. Col. Crawford began his argument for the defense, and will probably occupy the day if his voice does not fail. The line of his defense so far has been to create sympathy for Jackson by dwelling upon the torturing inquisitorial treatment given him by the Cincinnati police. He also has tried to show that Will Wood, not Jackson, was responsible for Pearl Bryan's condition.

PLAN TO HOLD REUNION HERE

Ex-Soldiers and Ex-Sailors Association to Form a Permanent Organization.

A meeting of the executive committee of ex-soldiers and ex-sailors association of Rock county was held yesterday afternoon in the office of County Clerk W. J. McIntyre.

The committee was called to order by President McIntyre, the object of the meeting being to discuss plans for the holding of a grand reunion in the city some time during the summer.

The society as it is now organized is a temporary one, and if possible, it is the object of the committee to make it a permanent organization. With this end in view an agent will be appointed to solicit names in each town. The initiation fee is but twenty-five cents.

HOLD HORSE RACES ON WOODMEN'S DAY

PLENTY OF AMUSEMENTS WILL BE PROVIDED.

Joe Hield and F. L. Smith Will Probably Get Up a Trotting Matinee—Arrow Cycling Club Offers Service of the Racing Board—Last Night's Meeting.

There will be plenty of amusements in Janesville the day of the Woodmen's picnic, June 10. The latest enterprise to be discussed will probably take place upon the fair grounds and will be a "trotting matinee." The events will include two pacing and two trotting races, besidss a running and a bicycle race. Frank L. Smith and Joseph Hield are working up the enterprise and expect to give purses to the amount of $500. A number of the leading members of the Woodmen have been approached on the subject and they advance no reason why the plan should not be a success.

At a meeting of the Arrow Cycling club held last evening it was decided to offer the services of the club to the Woodmen on the day of the picnic. The racing board was instructed to take charge of such races as the Woodmen desired and conduct them under the auspices of the club and the League of American Wheelmen. O. Sutherland is chairman of the racing board and the Woodmen can make all arrangements with him in case they desire to accept the club's offer.

Last Night's Meeting.

The Janesville Camp of Modern Woodmen entertained a delegation from Clinton last evening, the meeting being followed by a banquet at Lynch Brothers' restaurant. Those present from Clinton were George Barrus, George Rogers, L. J. Merrill, W. S. Thom, Charles Benedict; O. E. Noble, J. O. Mayberry, J. F. Kemmerer, George Slater and S. M. Fisher. Speeches were made by Venerable Counsel George Barrus, J. F. Kemmerer and S. M. Fisher of Clinton.

At this meeting it was also decided to give a dance on the night of June 19 and a committee consisting of James Harper, Orville Morse, W. S. Potter, Charles Carpenter and H. Kramer were appointed to make the arrangements.

H. M. Weaver has been appointed marshal of the bands with authority to appoint his own aides.

MORRIS M. BOSTWICK ENGAGED

Meeting of the Directors of the Milwaukee Ethical Society.

At a meeting of the reorganized board of directors of the Milwaukee Ethical society last evening, Edward M. Katz was chosen vice president and C. B. Whitnall secretary and treasurer. Morris M. Bostwick was formally engaged as lecturer for the ensuing year and John Batchelder was made librarian. It has been the intention from the start to provide a library and reading room at the Ethical building. The two front rooms on the first floor of the building will be devoted to this purpose. Mr. Batchelder, the new librarian, was formerly a trustee of the San Francisco library and will devote a large part of his time to building up the society's library. Plans are now on foot for the formation of a bowling club and the erection of a bowling alley in the basement of the building. President Paine has assurances of substantial help in this project.

ICE CREAM MEN CUT PRICES.

Agreement Made Some Time Ago Is "All Off" Now.

It s "all off" with the local ice cream dealers as far as the regulating of prices for the coming summer is concerned. At the last meeting held by retailers and wholesalers they failed to come together on rates, and instead of fixing the retail price at forty cents a quart as was the idea, the meeting broke up, and affairs were left in as bad a state as before. Another meeting called later on was not held. A number of the retailers started the ball a-rolling last Sunday by setting the price at twenty-five cents a quart, and in some instances it could be bought at twenty cents. The war is now on, and there is no telling how cheap it will be before the summer is over.

C. & N. W. CO. USE NEW CHECKS

Pasteboard Cards Are Used For Bicycles and Baby Cabs

A new form of baggage check is now in use on the Northwestern road. The checks are used exclusively for baby cabs and bicycles, and are paper. They are used for one trip only and save making out the local excess baggage cards which are such a bother to all baggagemen. The new checks are valued at twenty-five cents each, which sum is the smallest charge made for either a baby cab or bicycle.

WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP

We could make a Special Sale for a day or two but instead have decided to put in this great lot on steady sale and advise any woman to buy all she wants of these Ginghams while they last.

We consider this one of the most important purchases we've ever made.

A large New York house, having too many on hand, made an unusually deep cut in the price, and we took advantage of it.

10,000 Yards of the finest Scotch Zephyr Ginghams....

These Ginghams have a world-wide reputation. They were made by John and James Anderson, and are commonly called "Anderson Zephyrs."

The assortment of styles that we show them in is something wonderful.

It is the largest shipment of fine Ginghams ever received in Janesville.

They are perfectly fast in color, even the most delicate shadings.

The prices at which they have been sold all the season was 25c.

We bought this immense lot so low that we can offer them at a heretofore unheard of figure for such styles and styles and qualities.

Our price is 15 cents.

Although commonly called Ginghams, they are almost like silk, so fine and even are the threade.

Their extreme fineness gives them a smooth, lustrous, silky effect.

For wear there is nothing in cotton wash fabrics more satisfactory.

We wish to particularly impress the fact upon the minds of all who read this that there is not an old style pattern in the collection.

Our pencil can give no adequate description of the beauty of these Ginghams.

They must be seen.

Our Price, 15 cents.....

RESOLUTIONS FOR BYRON FIELD

Florence Camp Honors The Memory of a Dead Neighbor.

At the meeting of Florence Camp M. W. of A. held last night the following resolution was adopted:

On the 17th day of April, 1896, Neighbor C. Byron Field, a worthy and respected neighbor of Florence Camp No. 366, Modern Woodmen of American, departed this life at his home in this city.

Neighbor Field was born at Adams, Mass., Nov. 14, 1857. Coming to Wisconsin over twenty years ago, he made his home in this city, where he has lived ever since, a highly respected citizen. He joined Florence Camp No. 366, Modern Woodmen of America, soon after its organization in this city, and as a neighbor he has faithfully and honorably discharged his duty.

WHEREAS, In the death of Neighbor Field, this camp has lost one of its most worthy and honored members and the city a just and worthy citizen, no citizen, on his departure from this world, having been entitled by his life and character, to more respect and honor than Neighbor Field and

WHEREAS, While we deeply sympathize with his widow in the loss of a husband, we cannot but congratulate her upon the spotless and honorable character that he has left for her pride and comfort when the keen edge of her sorrow has been blunted by time; therefore be it

Resolved, That out of respect to the memory of our deceased neighbor the charter of this camp be draped in mourning for thirty days; and be it further

RESOLVED, That we tender to the widow of our deceased neighbor our kindest and most heartfelt sympathy in her affliction and sorrow and, fully conscious that we can do nothing to lessen the anguish caused by the heavy blow that has fallen upon her, we can only commend her to look above to Him who has said, "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted;" and be it further

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be placed upon the records of this camp and a copy thereof be presented to the widow of our deceased neighbor and that a copy also be sent to the city papers and to the Woodmen for publication.

BECKMAN TALKS AT SUPERIOR

Former Janesville Cigar Maker Makes a Speech on Labor Unionism

Of J. H. Beckman, the former Janesville cigar maker, now of Superior, a Superior paper says: "There was a lasge gathering of laboring men at the city hall last Wednesday evening to listen to the principles of labor unionism as presented by several gifted and eloquent speakers. J. W. Nichols, organizer for the A. F. L. Duluth, J. H. Baker of the same city, E. B. Harris and J. H. Beckman of Superior, were the speakers and their clear presentation of the principles of unionism were well received and keenly appreciated by the audience. Where all spoke well it seems invidious to draw comparisons, but we feel compelled to say that Mr. Beckman's speech was one of the strongest and most clearly expressed of any ever heard in the city hall. The meeting was called to awake interest in the new union, recently inaugarated in Superior under the title of the Pioneer Federal Labor Union of Superior. That the meeting was not without effect was shown by the addition of over twenty new names to the membership roll of the new union. The meeting was a pronounced success."

Dr. A. H. Flower is too well known to require an introduction to the public. His wonderful method of diagnosis and his marvelous cures of prominent people all over the country has placed him in the foremost rank of his chosen profession.

The Game of Whist.

The thorough-paced whist player has no thought for anything beyond his game. Well played, whist is an educational pastime. It requires concentration, an exercise of memory, patience, good temper and polite acquiescence in all the required forms of the game. Then it is a delightful amusement which is prevented from becoming tame by its vigorous adherence to rules.

Napolean I. whiled away many a dreary hour of captivity by playing whist. The counters used were always of gold and are kept by descendants of his jailers to this day. A nine of hearts on which he had written some speculative sentences, is also preserved. He was fond of shuffling the cards before entering upon any enterprise and foretelling the result according to the card cut.

Queen Elizabeth was a card-player and usually lost her temper over the game, which is against the etiquette of cards. Anne of Austria "played like a queen, without passion of greed or gain."

We are told in historic lore that Columbus and his crew on their voyage of discovery spent so much time in playing cards that they finally became superstitious over long delays and contrary winds, and believing the cards to be Jonahs, threw them overboard. When they reached land, however, they regretted the sacrifice, and provided themselves with a new pack, made from leaves of trees. The cards thrown into the sea were said to be made of leather.—Exchange.

An Electrical Fish.

Among the fish which are capable of giving severe electrical shock the torpedo, or electric ray, a member of the skate tribe, stands out prominently. This fish has a couple of complex batteries lodged in the sides of its head parts, and the discharge of these organs is fraught with dire effects to the animals which may chance to come in the way of this living magazine. The electricity is generated by the nervous system; that is to say, so much nerve force when passed through or into the electrical organ is converted into electricity. A scientist lit up several small electric lamps by the discharge from the fish.

Belgium Wants Population.

S. T. MERRILL IS AN OLD RESIDENT

Has Made Beloit His Home For Fifty Years Past

Today is the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival in Beloit of S. T. Merrill, and the Free Press says "it is no small privilege for a city to have enjoyed the residence of such a man for so long. Mr. Merrill has occupied many of the offices of responsibility in Beloit, in Rock county and in the state and it is not too much to say that he has filled all these offices with remarkable fidelity. He is held in wide honor throughout all Wisconsin for his service in regard to savings banks, the care of the poor and in the promotion of character and the treatment of crime. For many years he was a leader in the industrial affairs of Beloit. His school for young ladies and young gentlemen was the beginning of Beloit College and his general influence as a citizen has been of remarkable value.

"The position of such citizens is the true worth of a city. We congratulate Mr. Merrill on the vigor of his advanced years. It is the pleasure of the citizens of Beloit to express to him their high respect and affection and wish that he may continue among them many years to come."

MENTAL MANIFESTATIONS.

Curiosity Is Apparent and Also Resentment at Restraint.

The Rev. Dr. Charles J. Adams, in a recent letter, incidentally relates the following:

"That man is more discontented with things as they are—that man has more imagination—than the lower animals, I do not for a moment question. But that the lower animal has both reason and imagination, in common with man, is as unquestionably true as that the sun shines. But the question is now the one of curiosity and discontent. Cows rebel against restraint. An Iowa gentleman told me his father, wanting the cows in his farmyard to eat clover hay, they would not do so because they preferred timothy hay. A brother farmer advised him to in some way have the cows approach the clover hay, striking them over the snouts with a fork handle. He did so, and the result was that they ate all the clover hay and wanted more. Here was a clear case of rebellion against restraint or prohibition.

"Another farmer told me that he built a fence about a haystack, placing the rails upon posts a couple of feet high. Against that fence the cattle rebelled so emphatically that they stuck their heads under the fence and licked up the old broken and soiled straws on the outside, over which they had walked before, and which they could not have been induced to touch had it not been for the fence. The fence was an appetizer to the cattle, just as the limitations of knowledge are appetizers to man. And in one case as in the other the appetite was not physical. What the cattle wanted was liberty. The appetite was not of the body but of the soul. I received from Pittsburg the story of a spider that decorates its web, as it weaves it, with bits of logwood, which it takes from a box—with no other possible purpose in mind than that of decoration. Another spider weaves a web with bread walls on it—made by placing the threads more closely than they are placed elsewhere in the web. For what purpose? Simply for the purpose of decoration, or that it may have a place of outing or promenade; for another web is woven for the purpose of catching food. That spider had an imagination. It was not satisfied with ordinary things. It wanted something extraordinary. Ask the man who has hunted antelope on the prairies and he will tell you that he raises a flag and depends on the antelope's curiosity bringing it within range of his ball. Around the flag that the hunter raises the antelope moves in ever-decreasing circles till the report comes that is prophetic of its death."

IS YOUR DIGESTION POOR?

A Sample and Full Information Concerning the New Discovery for Dyspepsia Sent Free to Any Address.

A great deal of interest has been excited recently in the medical profession by the discovery of a new preparation, which has made many remarkable cures in cases of dyspepsia and indigestion.

This remedy is not a secret patent medicine, but is a scientific combination of pure pepsin and bismuth and fruit salts, pleasant to the taste, in tablet form, and sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Dr. Erskine who tested the tablets in many cases with marked success, states that they act entirely on the food taken into the stomach digesting it perfectly, no matter how weak the stomach may be; they have no action on the bowels and do not physic, being purely and simply a cure for dyspepsia and nothing else.

All physicians recommend them as being the safest, most sensible, most effective stomach remedy on the market.

No dieting or change of habits are required; eat all the wholesome food you care for and take a tablet at each meal, the food will be thoroughly digested, the body nourished, the stomach rested; that's the whole secret of curing indigestion and the whole secret of the success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; the reason why they have taken the place of after-dinner pills, "stomach bitters," "laxatives" and "tonics."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cts. per package, or he will order them for you if you ask him, as all druggists sell them.

A small sample package of the tablets will be sent free to any address if you will write to the Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. Also circulars and testimonials.

THE UNIFORM BANKRUPTCY LAW.

Business men are deeply concerned in the national bankruptcy law which passed the house and has gone to the senate. It is in substance the Torrey bill, which has been before congress for many years, backed by the indorsement of boards of trade and other commercial organizations in all parts of the country. There are provisions in it for both voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy, which is to say that its purpose is to protect the rights and promote the interests of both debtors and creditors. Generally speaking, it confines involuntary bankruptcy to the cases of debtors who undertake to perpetrate frauds by the secretion or transfer of their property, or by preferences that are manifestly inequitable and improper. It is required in such cases that the petition filed shall be signed by not less than three creditors whose claims aggrefiate $500 or more and that they shall give a bond conditioned for the payment to the respondent of all expenses, costs and counsel fees allowed by the court, thus preventing the absorption of estates by exorbitant charges, and insuring the best possible return to all of the creditors.

Three classes are exempted from the involuntary provisions of the bill—national banks, farmers and wage-earners; but any person who is a debtor may become a voluntary bankrupt, and secure a discharge from his obligations by surrendering all of his property. All assignments under state laws are superseded by making such an assignment for the benefit of creditors an act of bankruptcy. The involuntary feature of the bill was strongly resisted in the house, and will probably encounter resolute opposition in the senate, but it is a necessary part of any fair and just scheme of bankruptcy legislation, and the exceptions made by tkis bill are certainly sufficient to remove all reasonable objection to that relation. It is not to be doubted that a bankruptcy law is needed in this country. The lack of it is a serious drawback to business men who have unfortunately become involved beyond the hope of extrication by ordinary means, and the creditor gains nothing by keeping a debtor in that helpless condition. The bill passed by the house may not be the best that could be framed, but it appears to be reasonably considerate and judicious, and the senate will do well to act favorably upon it as soon as possible, in the interest of debtors who cannot free themselves from their burdens in any other way, and of creditors who might thus realize something where they are now unable to secure any adjustment of their claims.

HIDDEN IS DISCONSOLATE.

Walter S. Hidden has been disappointed in his dearest ambition.

"Who is Hidden?" some may ask.

Hidden is editor of the Sun Prairie Countryman. He also holds an obscure position in the state land office. He devoted the Countryman, three weeks ago, to a violent attack on Governor Upham, ex-Senators Sawyer and Spooner and most of the other republicans in the state except R. M. LaFollette

Then he sat back and waited to be made a martyr

As a martyr he could demand all kinds of favors should Governor Upham's enemies ever come to the front.

But martyrdom was not his lot.

Instead of getting out an ax and ending Mr. Hidden's $400 official career Governor Upham laughed.

So intemperate was the fury with which he had been assailed by the Sun Prairie office holder that it seemed like burlesque. Governor Upham realized, however, that the land commissioners might think to punish Mr. Hidden for his exhibition of spleen, so a note was sent from the governor's office expressly requesting Mr. Hidden's retention.

Mr. Hidden is perhaps the most generally laughed at man in Wisconsin today.

THE QUAIL WERE DRUNK.

And the Bold Pot-Hunter Got a Bag with Ease.

"I was out hunting quail in a big vineyard near Santa Rosa a few days ago," remarked Superior Judge Dougherty of Sonoma county to a San Francisco Post reporter, "and I got the finest bag of birds I ever shot in my life. When I first went into the vineyard I thought I was shooting at tame quail, for they wouldn't fly till I came near stepping on them, and then they would wobble off through the air in the most erratic way. They would only fly a short distance till they would drop into a grapevine, as if their wings had given out.

"My dog kept bringing me live quail, which I thought I had wounded, but finally when I had three dozen birds and had fired only about a dozen shots I knew there was something wrong somewhere.

"Finally I came upon a quail lying on its back and kicking its feet in the air in the most peculiar way. I picked it up and found it uninjured, so far as I could see. Then I set it on its legs and it went staggering and floundering over the clods a few feet till it fell on its back again and lay kicking helplessly.

"For the first time it occurred to me that the quail were drunk. They had been feeding on the frost-bitten grapes that had fermented on the vines and were enjoying the wildest kind of a jag. Some could not move, while the soberest couldn't fly fast enough to get out of the way of a clod."

A High Old Time.

A picnic 10,500 feet above sea level was recently given on the top of the Languard, in Southern Switzerland, by Sir Seymour and Lady King. The women were carried up on chaises by a porteur, used for the first time on the mountain, by Italian bearers, the Swiss mountaineers having refused to undertake the risk.

The Stomach, Not the Heart.

Nothing is more common than for persons to imagine that they have heart disease, and they often make themselves dreadfully uncomfortable in consequence. In the overwhelming majority of cases, more particularly in young, nervous, fanciful people, the heart is as sound as a bell, but the stomach is out of order.

The Output of Copper.

Foreign buyers are taking considerable of our copper, over one-third of our total production of 330,000,000 pounds going abroad. Of late there has been some prospecting as to the production of some of the large mining companies in 1896. The Anaconda mines will probably turn out 85,000,000 pounds, the Calumet & Hecla about 80,000,000, and the Boston and Montana fully 50,000,000 pounds. Many of the smaller companies feel confident of increasing their production considerably this year over last, so encouraging is the outlook.—From the Manufacturer.

POLICE LOOKED FOR A FIEND OF BLOOD

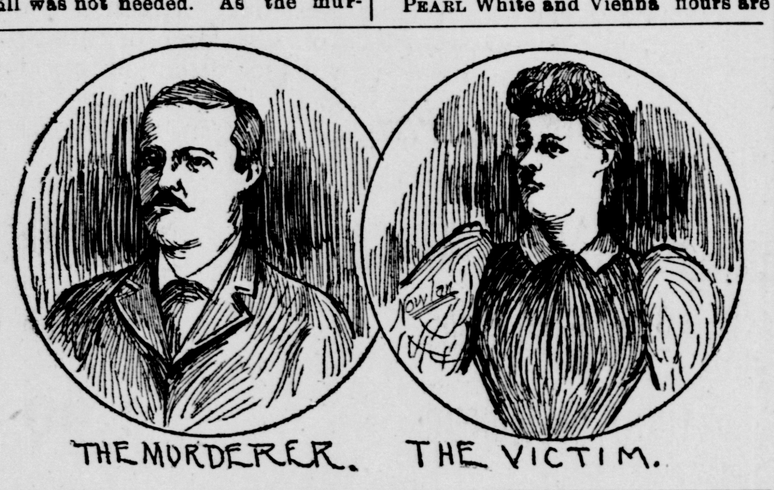
BRUTAL MURDERER PASSES THROUGH JANESVILLE.

Officer Hogan Was at the Depot But an Instant Too Late to Catch the Man Who Slew His Wife in Chicago—A Shocking Crime.

A murderer passed through Janesville last night.

He was Daniel McCarthy, of Chicago, and the blood of the young wife who ran away from home two years ago to marry him, was on his hands.

Last week she was forced to seek her mothers house as shelter from the abuse of her husband. Yesterday he sought her out and, as she turned to with a loving welcome, placed a pistol against her head and fired. The bullet ended her life; the second one that he sent crashing through her skull was not needed. As the murdered wife sank to the floor her mother sprang between the slayer and the victim in the hope of saving her daughter's life. McCarthy turned his smoking pistol on the middle aged woman and in a mad thirst for blood snapped the trigger three times. The revolver failed him and after a sharp struggle with his mother-in-law, the assassian dashed out of her house.



THE MURDERER. THE VICTIM.

Mothers' Narrow Escape.

The murder took place in the vestibule of Mrs. Barbara Grover's house, 243 Illinois street, early yesterday morning, Mrs. Grover being Mr. McCarthy's mother. Within the week McCarthy told two acquaintances that if his wife would not live with him he would kill her. An hour before he reached the little house on Illinois street he went to the printing establishment of Poole Brothers, where he was employed as a pressman, and drew a small amount of wages. The police believe this to be conclusive evidence that he had then made up his mind to slay his wife during the day. He may have purchased the revolver with the money. Only the night before, when maudlin with whisky, he had said that he would stop drinking if Adeline would again live with him, but that if she would not he would end her life. Eight hours after that threat the girl who had given up home and parents for him lay dead, but free from his abuse.

Passed Through Janesville.

Red-handed McCarthy fled. He went to the C. & N. W. depot and boarded a fast freight train that went through Janesville at 6:35 o'clock last night. Almost before he started telegrams were flashing in all directions from Chicago. Inspector Fitzpatrick was notifying the chiefs of police along the line, of the murder. One came to Janesville. The messenger boy hurried down stairs with it and met Officer Hogan. The train had been due here a few minutes before the message was received, but Hogan hurried to the depot. He found that the train had come and gone, but that McCarthy was undoubtedly aboard of it. There is but scant chance for McCarthy to escape, and he is probably under arrest before this time.

"I do not think there is any doubt but what McCarthy was aboard the train" said Officer Hogan when a Gazette man asked him about it this morning, "but the telegram got here too late too catch him."

The Chicago papers all had long stories about the cold blooded killing this morning.

BRIDE AND GROOM RAN AWAY

Beloit Party Fooled By Dr. and Mrs. Bradley Yesterday

After the Bradley-Bort wedding at Beloit yesterday afternoon the wedding party went direct to the depot to give the bride and groom "a good send off," but in the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Bradley hired a hack and drove to this city thus evading rice and old shoes. This morning the happy couple left for First lake where they will remain a few days. Those who attended the wedding from this city were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Conrad, Miss Sybil Nash, Miss Elizabeth Schicker, C. B. Conrad and C. C. Russell.

FOOTVILLE CRASH COST TWO LIVES

MISS SILVERTHORN DIED AT 5 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT.

There Had Been No Hope For Her Recovery, As Several of Her Ribs Had Been Broken In Addition to the Injury to Her Spine

The second victim of the fearful accident at Footville yesterday, closed her eyes in death last night, when Miss Myrtle Silverthorn moaned out her life on a bed of pain.

Her demise occured at 5 o'clock, but a few hours after the accident at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darius Silverthorne at that village.

There had been no hope for her recovery. Examination developed the fact that she was severely injured internally in addition to the breaking of her back. Several ribs had also been crushed in by the cruel blow, and the injuries precluded her recovery.

Her father is the proprietor of a general store at Footville, and is well known in Rock county.

Mrs. Snyder was about seventy-five or eighty years of age and had resided many years in Footville. She was the mother of Dr. Snyder of Baraboo, Wis. and was an aunt of D. B. Silverthorn.

The funeral of both Mrs. Snyder and Miss Silverthorn will held from the Methodist church at Fostville at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. Mr. Spencer will officiate, and both bodies will be intered at the "Grove cemetery," near the village.

Miss Silverthorn did not recover consciousness after being hurt and died without recognizing anyone at her bedside.

PIPE IS CORRODED BY ELECTRIC FORCE

AS HIGH AS A TEN VOLT CURRENT IS FOUND.

Electrical Inspector Wentworth, of the National Board of Fire Uuderwriters, Makes Scientific Tests—Street Car Line Responsible—Says Trouble Can Be Remedied.

From a trace of a current, to a 10½ volt current of electricity, courses along the pipes of the Janesville water company, as the result of running the street cars, and the pipes are being injured by electrolysis.

Scientific tests made by Franklin H. Wentworth, inspector for the electrical bureau of the National Board of Underwriters, today, developed this fact.

Two tenths of a volt is held to be injurious to pipes, in eastern cities.

A few days ago Chief Engineer Spencer sent several specimens of pipe to the national board. One sample was of special interest to the chief electrician and he had a photograph of it taken to use in illustrating a report, declaring the action to be that of an electric current. Inspector Wentworth then came to Janesville and, accompanied by Secretary Hyzer of the water company, City Attorney McElroy, City Electrician Klein and Chief Spencer, made several tests this morning, covering the pipes from Division to Bluff street. Inspector Wentworth suggested remedies for the difficulty by means of ground wires, etc. He will probably make a report as to his finding when he reaches Chicago.

"I think the matter can be easily remedied" he said to a Gazette man, "but the current is now slowly but steadily eating into the pipes rendering them liable to break when extra pressure is called for at a fire."

FRIGHTENED INTO HOMICIDE

THE one virtue of this story above all others is that it is true; and, with a change of names only, is exactly as the records of the supreme court of California tell it to-day.

Early in 1890 Tom Jermyn, a youngster of 23, left his home in New Jersey and sought fortune in the far West. As many before him had done, he worked from place to place, forgetting the maxim that a rolling stone gathers no moss, and after having tried half a dozen states and territories he found himself, in the spring of 1891, in Los Angeles, friendless, homeless and all but penniless.

The situation was not a pleasant one. The "boom" of two or three years before had left the town quiet, and after a few weeks of searching he came to the conclusion that his only chance to escape starvation or the penitentiary was to go into the mining districts, and therefore thither he went.

With varying success he found his way from one to another of the camps along the Sierras, until one day he struck a new one, far up the country toward Death's valley, named "Last Ditch," and there fell into companionship and finally into partnership with a man almost twice his age by the name of John Selden, "Quick Jim," as he was better known in all the mining region.

The friendship was a strange one. The boy, for he was but a boy, was not a drinker nor a thief, was willing to do as he would be done by, and to work. Selden, on the contrary, was a hard drinker, loved gaming and cheating of any and every sort, had killed his man, yes, men, being known as a desperado when in liquor, and was altogether a person to be avoided. And yet the two seemed to have a mutual attraction, for their acquaintance, begun by chance, ripened, as I have said, into actual friendship, and for nearly two years they were "partners" in all business relations and became much attached to each other.

The fellowship was like to do Jermyn harm rather than to help Selden, but such was not the case. The elder man turned a sharp corner, became interested in actual mining in the legitimate way, drunk but little and almost never got into any row. His old companions viewed the change with delight, for he had always been considered "dangerous," and the hope was generally expressed that Jim's last love was going to reform and make a worthy man of him.

Matters were in this happy state when the two became possessed of a mining claim near Dry Salt lake in the El Paso district, which rapidly developed into a valuable one, and from which they took a considerable quantity of gold.

Day after day they worked as neither of them had ever worked before, and night after night they estimated their increasing wealth and figured on the time, apparently near at hand, when they should have enough of the precious dust to return to civilization, able to establish themselves in some regular business. They were, in fact, making a profit of several hundred dollars per day, when, just as fortune had thus turned her fickle smile upon them, Selden fell a prey to his old enemy, began to drink to excess, became at once sullen, ugly and overbearing to all about him, and, as he had never done before, turned upon his boy partner and charged him with defrauding him in their partnership division.

Surprised and hurt, Jermyn for a time tried to explain to his friend that he was dealing fairly in all things, but day by day Selden grew worse, until one night, as they were weighing the result of their work, he turned like a wild beast upon Jermyn, threw him out of the cabin where they lived, cast his bag of accumulated dust after him, and swore that if he ever laid eyes on him again he would shoot him dead.

"JIM, LOOK UP!" AND FIRED.

Filled with anger at the unjust treatment, the young fellow would have sought another interview had not older and cooler heads advised him to keep away for a time, and therefore, he retired to the cabin of another miner not a mile away, waiting until Selden should end his debauch and be in a condition to meet without danger.

But that condition did not ensue: on the contrary, no sooner had the elder man broken with his partner than he plunged into deeper excesses than before, gave up his work, finally sold the claim at a great sacrifice, and spent all his time in savage drunkenness, constantly swearing that he had but one thought left in life, and that to find and kill Jermyn.

Too often the man who has done another a wrong hates him for that very reason, strange as it may seem, and that was the condition of mind that Selden had now reached.

Meantime, Jermyn, advised by men who had known Selden for years, hid himself and waited from day to day, hoping against hope that a change might come.

But no change came, and one day by some chance Selden learned that Jermyn was still in the camp, and the rage with which he began a house to house or cabin search for him led the latter's friends to at once smuggle him as far as Granite Springs, twenty miles over the divide.

They hoped that this would satisfy Selden, but the man had become crazed; one idea filled his mind—the murder of Jermyn—and with all the cunning of a lunatic he sought the trail of the fleeing boy. Threats of death, curses and oaths of the most terrible form, rage that knew no bounds filled the air about him wherever he paused, and the story of his determined revenge spread among the mining camps in the desert, so that Jermyn was warned and continued his flight from point to point to avoid his pursuer.

Imagine the situation; a mere boy, unused to the wild lawlessness of that border land, friendless and far from home, pursued by one who should have nothing against him, but whom he knew to be a murderer and willing to do as he threatened; is it any wonder that his nerves gave way?

Well, they did, and after being driven from Granite Springs to Grant, and in turn to Cottonwood, Point of Rocks and San Bernadino, he finally sought cover in Los Angeles itself, hoping that his enemy would not follow him into that city lest he might fall into the hands of the law.

But he did not know Selden. Crazed with liquor and the one idea that he had turned within his seething brain for a month, he learned with fiendish joy that Jermyn was in the city, and thither he went post haste, seeking for himself a lodging in one of the third rate hotels upon lower Main street, and searching the town each day for his selected victim.

For a week or more the other dodged him; men who knew them both warning him and helping him to conceal himself. Why he did not call upon the authorities for protection is not known, but they could do little, for bail to keep the peace would have been a straw buckler to save Jermyn from the bullet or knife of his enemy. Day by day and night by night the boy watched and dodged and listened and started, unable to rest or sleep, or eat; frightened more by the horrible uncertainty of when the end would come than by that end itself, until his brain, too, was turned, and for the time he became as crazed as the man who was following him.

He reached one conclusion, either he must kill Selden or Selden would kill him, and life seemed too sweet, with all its terrors, to lose it at twenty-three; and this is what he did:

Finding where the elder man was staying he engaged a room in one of the small two-storied buildings opposite. The room looked upon the street and commanded the entrance to Selden's hotel; and, having secured a shot gun which he loaded with buckshot, he took up his station in the upper window, behind a half opened blind, and waited the coming of his former partner.

For some reason two days passed without Jermyn's seeing Selden. During this time, with only a pause for a few hours of rest and a bite to eat, the half-crazed boy, gun in hand, watched, with flaming eyes and heart that throbbed as if it would suffocate him; watched and waited the chance to kill the man whom he feared. Each moment that passed burned into his seething brain a greater fear; each hour scorched him with a more terrible dread, and the horror that had haunted him for a month shut out all else. The world turned red before his staring eyes, and blood seemed to trickle down the grimy wall about him!

It was noon of the third day. Half exhausted, kneeling with his gun thrust across the window sill and his chin resting upon it, Jermyn glared down the narrow street. Suddenly a figure appeared, approached—it was Selden!

Cautiously, with all the method and care of a madman, the boy cocked his weapon, pushed its barrel a little further out, dropped his head so that his eye ran along it, and just as the other was opposite, within three rods of the grim muzzle, he cried:

"Jim, look up!" and fired.

Selden's face was raised, his eyes caught sight of the red flames, he whirled half about, his hand at his hip, and fell dead upon the pavement, his heart shot out!

For a month Jermyn was in the hospital, but when at last he had recovered from the terror and strain of his experience and was brought to trial it was a matter of great ease for his counsel to obtain an acquittal and a verdict of "justifiable homicide," for all the jury felt that it was "kill, or be killed," and not the less was that their conclusion when it appeared that the dead man's hand, warned by the voice that spoke from the window even as the triggers had been pressed, had sprung to his pistol and half drawn it before the fatal buckshot had torn his heart and life from him.

Had Jermyn waited three seconds he would have been the victim. He knew it and fired first.

A LEAP YEAR PROPOSAL.

How the Woman Popped the Question by Rhetorical Distortions.

Woman—Life is a beautiful thing.

Man—Yes, indeed; especially in Paris.

Woman—What's that?

Man—Er—um, I said: Yes, especially in pairs.

Woman—Oh, Henry! This is so abrupt! But I—I am willing.

Man—I was about to say that especially impartial observation has justified me in agreeing with you, to live——

Woman—Oh, Henry, You surprise me so, but I—I accept.

Man—Yes, it is best to accept the world as it exists. I was saying to live nobly is a beautiful thing. By the way, what if Uncle Sam should annex Cuba?

Woman—Oh, Henry! How metaphoric!

Man—Metaphoric?

Woman—Calling yourself Uncle Sam and me——

Man—I believe the annexation would be disastrous to all concerned."

Woman—Oh!

Man—But the whole political situation in our country is bad at present. These domestic broils will ruin us.

Woman—But, Henry, we haven't quarreled.

Man—Eh? What's that?

Woman—I said we hadn't quarreled. You said——

Man—I said nothing about ourselves. I regret that I have not succeeded in making you understand.

Woman—But you have, you have, indeed. I don't know what to say to you, you have startled me so! But, of course, if you insist, I suppose I shall have to give way and say yes. You are so impetuous, so hasty!

Man—On the contrary, I am very slow. I even fail to appreciate your——

Woman—Nonsense, Henry. All men say they fail to appreciate us. For my part, compared with you, I know I am not worth anything.

Man—What's that?

Woman—I say I am really not worth anything.

Man—What of that? You have a beautiful home here, and I am sure your father won't begrudge——

Woman—I am sure he will not. I wish you would ask him right away.

Man—Ask him? Ask him what?

Woman—What you did me.

Man—Good heavens! Miss Durham, what was that?

Woman—If you could have me for your own little wifey-ifey!

Man—I never——

Woman—Certainly not! I know you never did. All the men say they never proposed to any other girl. And, Henry, dear Henry, papa's in the next room, I'll tell him you wish to see him. You, darling, you!

Man—Oh, Lord!—New York Herald.

The Dandelion.

The word "dandelion" is a corruption of the French "dent de lion," lion's tooth. In Latin "Leon todon," in Italian ("dente di leone") and in many southern languages the name of the flower bears the same significance as in French. Why this is so is a question that baffles the etymologists. A rather far fetched explanation attributes it to the resemblance of the yellowness of the flower and the gold teeth of the heraldic lion; while the older herbalists believe that the notching of the leaf and the jaw of the lion were in some points similar, which hardly, however, accounts for the word "tooth." Again, it is said that on account of its medicinal virtues the dandelion was compared to the lion's tooth, which was a charm against many diseases. But though the fact does not explain itself, nevertheless it remains a fact that dandelion means a lion's tooth and that no other origin of the word can be suggested.

Strength and Weakness.

The Christian should remember that there is no place in the journey of life where he may not count upon God for help.

When God calls the safest step we can take is to go forward.

The basis of Christian courage lies in believing that God never takes His presence from us.

If our work is religious work, no matter whether it is preaching or blacksmithing, Christ is with us.

If Paul cou'd say, "I can do all things through Christ," why should any one fail?

Christ went to the cross as cheerfully as he did to preach the sermon on the mount.—Ram's Horn.

All the Letters in the Alphabet.

Some ingenius trifler has discovered that there is one verse in the Bible which contains all the letters in the alphabet: "And I, even I, Artaxerxes, the King, do make a decree, to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that, whatsoever Ezra, the priest, the scribe of the law of God of Heaven, shall require of you, it shall be done speedily." (Ezra vii., 21). Of course it will be seen that J is left out; but then J and I were originally the same letter. It will further be seen that the letters are duplicated and reduplicated.

Southern Population.

A New Orleans paper reports that while the south has gained 34 per cent in population during the last twenty years, the enrollment of its school attendance has increased 130 per cent. The value of the southern school property in the same time has increased from $16,000,000 to $51,000,000. It is estimated that of the $320,000,000 expended for education in the south in the last eighteen years one-fourth has been for colored pupils.

There are men, sound sensible citizens, who learned the way in youth to a custom tailor's shop and they'll keep traveling the expensive path until, by accident, some day they drop in here and "look at

ALKALI IKE AT A WEDDING.

He Describes What Occurred Out at Old Juckett's Place.

From the New York Herald: "Did you attend the wedding out at old man Juckett's place last night, Ike?" asked Judge Stringer, the well known Oklahoma jurist.

"Yep!" answered Alkali Ike.

"Had a lively time, I presume?"

"Eh—yah! some ways it was middlin' lively, and other ways it was slower than snails. Thar was no shootin', an' the licker was mizzable. But take it all around, up one side and down the other, it was what you might call a pleasant affair from start to finish. The preacher didn't show up at the app'inted hour, but we didn't miss him for quite a spell, owin' to the fact that the bride's mother, who 'peared to be an advanced woman, sorter objected to Kickapoo Pete, who was supposed to be the groom, and got after him with a soap paddle or suthin' of the kind and chased him all over the lot.

"She needn't have put herself to the trouble, for the bride got to thinkin' the matter over an' concluded that she'd jest as soon marry Three-Fingered Babcock, who'd sorter been shinnin' 'round her some time before, an' she didn't know but she'd a little sooner. Nacheral enough, this kinder riled Kickapoo, an' him an' Three-Fingered got to jowerin' over it, an' I reckon they would have fought it out if Jim Whipsaw, from the Rattlesnake place ranch, hadn't pacified 'em an' got 'em to playin' cards to settle the question.

"This promised to satisfy all parties concerned, but the bride found out that Three-Fingered had put up $2.60 on his side against her hand in marriage, which Kickapoo had staked, which made her so blamed mad that she swore that if they didn't value her pure affection at more than $2.60 she'd be hanged if she'd marry either of 'em! This sorter complicated matters again, but Jim Whipsaw soothed an' comforted her, an' when the preacher showed up, by gosh, Miss Daisy an' Jim stepped forward, hand in hand, to be married.

"Meanwhile Kickapoo had put up $2.60 against Three-Fingered's stakes, an' they were playin' along as contented as a couple of kittens. They slipped their hands into a book and gave it to Appetite Bill to hold while the preacher was gittin' off the solemn words that made the two young hearts one. An' then, after they had congratulated the bride, thar came the call to supper, an' so they concluded to make it a showdown. Accordin', Appetite Bill opened the book, an' burcussed if both hands didn't consist of four aces and a king. Thereupon they divided the stakes an' shook hands. An' then everybody adjourned to the supper table, feelin' that it was indeed good to be thar."

SPRING and summer shoes for everyone, not over $3.00—many under. Becker & Woodruff.

Little Folks With Tiny Feet

are entitled to cool summer footwear as well as their elders. Babies' and children's shoes are an important factor in our stock. We have a very pretty shoe for the very small people either black or tan for 50c. We also have a 75c shoe which is a trifle better than the 50c kind that is a very good wearer. $1.00 buys a banner shoe for the infant with the choice of the new round or the needle toe. Why not have the baby's feet well dressed in pretty shoes as well as the older brothers and sisters? We take a great deal of pride in our stock of tan and black shoes and oxfords for misses for hot weather wear. Not only the styles are pretty but the assortment is large and varied. There is no reason why a miss's shoe should not be as pretty in every way as the ladies' shoes. We have taken particular pains to select the shoes that have a modern style of shoe-making. We have not forgotten the boys with the short pants on summer shoes. We have many styles of tans and blacks and all widths. A black or tan needle toe shoe looks well, fits well and wears well. For $2.00 down. Great shoe for the boys. We show 75 different patterns and styles of ladies' and men's fine shoes.

IF IT IS NEW WE ARE SURE TO HAVE IT.
